Raj Uphaar is a multifaceted platform to employ tribal women in the remote rural areas of South Gujarat, India. This initiative empowers them in their quest towards financial independence and self sustenance. With over 200 female employees, Raj Uphaar has now become a place of home and hope. The women produce and manufacture over 200 different fragrances, savouries, confectioneries and home accessories. Your purchase supports their holistic development through self-care, access to healthcare services, and educational programmes.

The women put their heart and soul into each product. Each creation tells a story, and every time you purchase a Raj Uphaar product, you empower a tribal woman who will move one step closer to self-reliance.
